

Knole Park

As we head towards the peak of the summer season, the picnic area at Knole is now open and we're encouraging visitors to use this space, set up for socially distanced picnics, rather than the park. We're pleased to say the Brewhouse Café has also reopened for takeaways only, with the roof top terrace open too. The menu now includes hot and cold drinks, sandwiches, cakes and scones, plus some light lunch options and ice creams. Limited toilet facilities are also open, and we plan to re-open the shop over the coming weeks.

Please remember if you wish to arrive by car, you must pre-book via our website. Members book for free. All details can be found at www.nationaltrust.org.uk/knole/whats-on

We continue to remind visitors not to feed the deer, through signage on site, our car park team who greet visitors, volunteers in the park and through our online platforms. We're grateful to the local community for supporting us and helping to care for the wild deer herd, particularly during the fawning season. We hope to see many of you at Knole over the coming weeks.

"What is the PopUp Business School?"

We are the UK's leading alternative business course that shows you practical ways to run a business for free, regardless of where you're at on your journey. If you are already established we will also be covering how to adapt and be more resilient during times of change.

"What do you mean free?"

The course is free thanks to the support of local sponsors. No one has EVER paid to attend. NO upselling. NO surprises. NO hidden terms and conditions. We promise.

"How will the course work?"

Our one-week online course brings our unique approach to running a business to you. Over five days we will present live seminars, pre-recorded content, practical exercises, and online networking that will show you how to adapt your business for online audiences and how to develop your business skills and knowledge.

WHAT'S ON? learn our unique way of thinking about business through practical sessions.
