Sarah Hamilton-Walker, Editor at Index Magazine said:

“INDEX Magazine is delighted to be official sponsor of the Sevenoaks Town Partnership Business Show 2019 for the second successive year. As the leading local lifestyle magazine and having worked closely with Sevenoaks’ businesses to increase their presence in the local area, we’re really excited to be involved once again in this fabulous initiative which has so many networking benefits for local firms and individuals.”

Cllr Roderick Hogarth, Portfolio Holder for Economic and Community Development said:

“Sevenoaks District Council is very pleased to support the Business Show which has become a popular fixture in the business calendar for exhibiting, networking and learning. This year I’m sure it will draw more visitors than ever from across the District and beyond.”

James Bradshaw Marketing & Business Development Manager at Thackray Williams Solicitors said:

“Thackray Williams have been a part of the Sevenoaks Business Show for the last 5 years and are very proud, in 2019, to become an official sponsor. We have always found the show to be an excellent place to meet likeminded local business people and learn more about what the district has to offer. As sponsors, we are looking forward to expanding our ongoing support for this much valued event.”

Andrew Eyre, Chief Executive Stag Community Arts Centre said:

“We are glad to welcome back to The Stag the 2019 Wellbeing Show. The Stag is proud to have been a long-time supporter alongside its Patron Sir Michael Fallon and its driving force the successful Sevenoaks Town Partnership. The show is sure to be full of good ideas and good contacts so make a date in your diary.”
